This morning I got an email from the guys at CAM which said - "With changes in the energy market, we are receiving an increasing number of inquiries on energy trading from CUs in the UK and Ireland. We are establishing an energy trading desk in the UK to help manage the energy related business for the CUs." I think its long overdue.

Have you had any discussions with CAM with regard to confidentiality? We just tried to get a handle on the number of CAM customers in the UK and France, and you may be able to help. We had some input from your organization in that the number of customers is growing very rapidly. Any ideas about what CAM's plans are to deal with this, or are they going to take the same approach as the retail group, meaning a high level of confidentiality until CAM has evaluated customer specific services? I really look forward to working with you.
